Exploring Iceland

11 days for $6,692 total price from Fort Myers

($6,195 air & land inclusive plus $497 airline taxes and fees)

It's a surprising, even astonishing land; one of massive glaciers and rumbling volcanoes, bubbling mud holes and powerful waterfalls; hugely abundant bird life and just 340,000 people; and where the sun never sets for six splendid weeks. It's also perfect for exploring in a small group, as we discover traveling the breadth of the country and getting an up-close view of this natural "wonderland."

Day 1: Depart U.S. for Reykjavik, Iceland

Day 2: Arrive Reykjavik/Selfoss Upon our early morning arrival in Iceland's capital, we meet our tour director, have breakfast at a local restaurant, then enjoy a scenic drive east. We stop to view the geothermal exhibit at the Hellisheiði Power Plant, Iceland's largest geothermal power plant, sitting on the slopes of Hengill volcano. Mid-afternoon, we reach pastoral Selfoss, and our hotel. Tonight: a briefing on the journey ahead followed by a welcome dinner. B,D

Day 3: Selfoss/Vík Our first stop today is at picturesque Seljalandsfoss, Iceland's most visited waterfall, followed by nearby Skogafoss, another popular waterfall, known for its rainbows on sunny days. We continue on to lovely Vík, Iceland's southernmost town, where we're free to explore and shop for items of locally produced wool. This afternoon, we walk along the black-sand beach at Reynisfjara, lined with columnar basalt-filled caves. En route to our hotel, we stop by the Solheimajökull "sliding" glacier. B

Day 4: Selfoss/Reykjavik/Akureyri/Lake Myvatn

We transfer to Reykjavik this morning for the one-hour flight to Akureyri, Iceland's "northern capital," where, upon arrival, we travel to beautiful Lake Myvatn. One of the world's natural wonders, Lake Myvatn and its environs of bubbling mud flats, lava fields, and lunar-like volcanic craters comprise a stunning national park. We stop to explore the bizarre lava formations at Dimmuborgir, and also see the region's unique "pseudo craters," the boiling mud pots at Namaskard, the explosion crater at Viti, and the flat volcano system at Krafla. B,D

Day 5: Lake Myvatn/Húsavík/Vatnajökull National Park This morning we travel to Húsavík, Iceland's picturesque fishing and whale-watching village. Upon arrival, we embark on a cruise to see these enormous creatures, including the humpback whale with its large flippers and distinctive dives. In addition to seeing Iceland's diverse whale population, we will observe birdlife and fantastic natural scenery here. This afternoon, we visit Vatnajökull National Park, yet another of Iceland's natural wonders. Here we see Asbyrgi, a huge canyon enveloped by towering walls; in the middle of the partially wooded canyon sits a hoof-shaped rock called "The Island." Next, we visit Hljodaklettar Echo Cliffs, where we explore the labyrinth of "echoing rocks" created by the spiral basalt formations of the arches and canyons here. Our last stop: jaw-dropping Dettifoss, Europe's most powerful waterfall and Iceland's "Niagara." B,L,D

Day 6: Lake Myvatn/Akureyri/Siglufjordur This morning, we stop at Godafoss, the "waterfall of the gods" named for the carvings of Norse gods discarded here when the country was declared Christian a thousand years ago. soup at a rustic oceanfront restaurant, we see the haunting remains of abandoned coastal farms at Djupalonssandur. B,L,D

Day 9: Borgarbyggo/Reykjavik En route to Reykjavik today, we visit Thingvellir National Park, known both for its historic import and as the place where the fissure between the geological plates of North America and Europe is most evident. It's also a gem of nature, with canyons, caves, waterfalls, and ponds surrounded by snowcapped mountains. We learn about the historic parliament founded here in 930 CE, and walk along a gorge into the rift valley itself. Then we depart for famed Great Geysir and Gullfoss, Iceland's immensely popular "golden" waterfall. We continue on to Reykjavik, arriving in time for dinner on our own in this stylish city. B,L
